The opening paragraph sits above the picture on this trimmed page, and it runs to a second line.

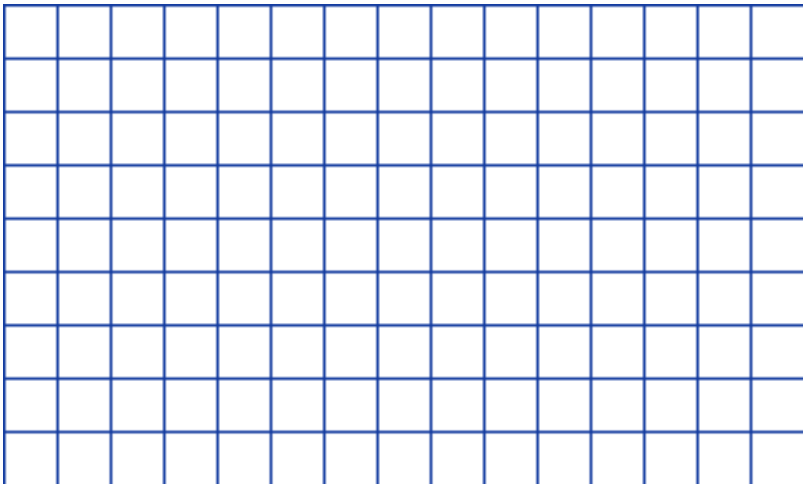

Figure 1. A picture on a trimmed page.

The closing paragraph follows the caption and the picture, as the reader expects it to.

